Hosted by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) Joint Genome Institute (JGI), the University of Nevada, Las Vegas (UNLV), and the Desert Research Institute (DRI), the 2025 New Lineages of Life (NeLLi) Symposium delves into the most recent expansions of the Tree of Life and latest discoveries toward the evolution of cellular complexity and microbial symbiosis. Further, the symposium showcases cutting-edge experimental approaches, computational innovations, and other technological advancements that facilitate the shift from uncovering microbial novelties to deciphering metabolic and functional capabilities.

Benefits of Your Meeting Sponsorship
